

CATHERINE M. SKOWRONSKY, MSN, RN, ACNS-BC, CMSRN

PUBLICATIONS

Skowronsky C. Close Observation of Medical Patients with Complex Conditions to Prevent Falls and Minimize Use of Patient Care Companions. Journal of Nursing Care Quality. Submitted for review November 2013. [manuscript]

PRESENTATIONS

“Trachs, Cannulas and Mucous Plugs. Oh, my!” presentation to AMSN; Cleveland, Ohio; November 2013.

“Sepsis: A one act play,” at the Cleveland Clinic Medical Surgical Nursing Conference, Cleveland, Ohio; October 3, 2013.

“Reducing the Incidence of CLABSI in the Non ICU Medicine Units of a large Academic Medical Center,” at the Quality and Patient Safety Innovation Summit, Cleveland Clinic; Cleveland, Ohio; May 2013. [poster presentation]

“Close Observation of Medical Patients with Complex Conditions to Prevent Falls,” at the Nursing Research Conference, Cleveland Clinic; Cleveland, Ohio; May 2013. [poster presentation]

“Revisiting the Heparin Nomogram: Leveraging Technology to Improve Quality,” at the American Society of Hematology; Florida; December 2012. [accepted for poster presentation]

“Improving Heparin Infusion Administration and Monitoring: A Multidisciplinary Approach,” at Dimensions in Cardiac Care, Cleveland Clinic; Cleveland, Ohio; September 2012. [poster presentation]

“CIWA: Say What?” at the National Association of Clinical Nurse Specialists Conference; Chicago, Illinois; April 2012. [poster presentation]

“Keeping Patients Safe on a Budget: Establishing a Close Observation Unit,” at the National Association of Clinical Nurse Specialists Conference, Chicago, Illinois; April 2012. [poster presentation]

“Improving the Safety and Effectiveness of Heparin Infusions at a Large Academic Hospital,” National Forum on Quality Improvement in Healthcare; December 2011. [poster presentation]

“The Respiratory System,” at the Department of State CE presentation; Singapore and Istanbul, Turkey; March and April 2011.

“Nursing Care of the Patient with Parkinson’s Disease,” at the Geriatric Resource Nurse Program, Cleveland Clinic; Cleveland, Ohio; April 2006.

“Code Blue U,” at the NTI; Providence, Rhode Island; April 2006. [poster presentation]