

The Anesthesiology Institute

The Anesthesiology Institute is world renowned in its delivery of anesthesia as well as pain management services. The institute runs the largest resident and fellow training program in the country. Our subspecialties in anesthesia include: general, pediatric, cardiothoracic and regional. With over 200,000 cases in anesthesia and 116,000 patient encounters yearly in pain management, plus a 40-bed surgical ICU and 76-bed cardiovascular ICU, the Cleveland Clinic Anesthesiology Institute is one of the busiest in the country.

About Us

Clinical Excellence. Education. Innovation. People.

The Cleveland Clinic Anesthesiology Institute unites all specialists in pain management, general anesthesia, pediatric & congenital heart anesthesia, cardiothoracic anesthesia and critical care, regional practice, outcomes research and education within one fully integrated model of care to improve diagnosis, medical management and quality of life for our patients.

This innovative model of care allows patients to better access the services they need through our six specialized, multidisciplinary departments and more than 15 subspecialized sections. We strive to advance anesthesia through clinical excellence, education, innovation and people. Our internationally recognized medical staff and dedicated support team perform more than 200,000 procedures annually.

Our organizational structure is an employed model, with staff anesthesiologists supervising residents, fellows, nurse anesthetists and student nurse anesthetists. We have one of the largest anesthesiology residency training programs in the country, accepting about 30 new residents annually. Cleveland Clinic also has the nation's largest fellowship program, offering subspecialized anesthesiology fellowships in cardiac, vascular, transplant, obstetrics, pain management, pediatrics, neuroanesthesiology, critical care and outpatient and advanced anesthesiology.

Our departments include:

Pain Management

Offering a full spectrum of treatment options for patients suffering from chronic and acute pain from disease, surgery or trauma

General Anesthesia

Specializing in comprehensive anesthesia services for all non-cardiothoracic subspecialties and outpatient surgery

Pediatric & Congenital Heart Anesthesia

Serving the comprehensive anesthesia needs of children and adult patients with congenital heart defects

Cardiothoracic Anesthesia & Critical Care

Providing anesthesia and critical care for the largest cardiothoracic surgical practice in North America

Regional Anesthesia Practice

Offering anesthesia, pain management and critical care medical services to community hospitals and ambulatory centers throughout Ohio

Outcomes Research

Providing academic collaboration and assistance with study design and execution for investigator-initiated research

Educational Programs

Training tomorrow's residents and fellows, while offering the nation's largest fellowship program
