Art Exhibition: tech·no·logic

tech·no·logic is a collaborative project between Cleveland Clinic's Art Program and Progressive Corporation's Art Department. The artworks on display were chosen from Progressive's collection by Cleveland Clinic curators, putting these contemporary collections in conversation for the first time. This exhibition uses technology as a point of departure, arriving at different conclusions and questions about the ways in which it has become a ubiquitous, integrated part of life in the 21st century.
