It is important to have an office visit in one week (7 days) after you leave the hospital, even if you feel well.

Please keep your scheduled appointment: Date: ________________  Time: _____________

HEART FAILURE ZONES

Every Day

- Make sure that you do the following EVERY DAY:
  - Weigh yourself before breakfast. Compare today's weight with your dry weight. Dry weight is your weight when you do not have extra fluid in your body. Make sure you know your dry weight.
  - Your dry weight is 1 pound less than your weight on the first day home from the hospital. _____ - 1 lb = _____lbs or the weight determined by your healthcare provider.
  - Take ALL medications as prescribed.
  - Check for swelling in your feet, ankles, legs and stomach.
  - Limit sodium in your diet as prescribed by your healthcare provider (read food labels for sodium content);
    - My sodium limit is ____________ mg/day
  - Be active and exercise every day.

Which zone are you in today? Green, Yellow or Red?

Green Zone

- ALL CLEAR – This zone is your goal. You do not have symptoms or they are mild. You have:
  - No new or worsening:
    - Shortness of breath
    - Swelling of feet, ankles, legs or stomach
    - Fatigue/tiredness
    - Stable weight (weight is within 4 pounds of your dry weight)

Yellow Zone

- CAUTION – This zone is a warning zone. Call your heart failure doctor or nurse if you:
  - Gain or lose 4 or more pounds from your dry weight
  - Have new or worsening:
    - Shortness of breath when active or at night when lying down
    - Swelling of feet, ankles, legs or stomach
    - Tiredness (less energy than usual)
    - Dizziness that lasts more than a minute
    - Need to urinate more often at night
    - Dry cough
  - Feel uneasy and know something is not right
  - Have a change of appetite (less hungry)
