

DISPOSABLE GLOVES

How (and when) to use disposable gloves:

- Gloves should be worn when cleaning and disinfecting surfaces.
- Gloves protect your skin against the harsh chemicals used for cleaning.
- Gloves should be discarded in the trash after use.
- Clean your hands after removing your gloves with soap & water for 20 seconds if they are visibly soiled or you may use a hand sanitizer.
- Gloves aren't a substitute for cleaning your hands. To stay healthy, clean your hands often during key moments when you're likely to be exposed to or spread germs (like after handling money, after using the restroom, after blowing your nose).

Businesses that provide food services should refer to the Food & Drug Administration's Food Code for specific guidance on glove use.
