Cleveland Clinic Lou Ruvo Center for Brain Health

Cleveland Clinic Lou Ruvo Center for Brain Health provides state-of-the-art care for cognitive disorders and for the family members of those who suffer from them. The physicians and staff at the Lou Ruvo Center for Brain Health are devoted to excellent patient care, support of caregivers and development of new treatments in clinical trials. The Center offers a patient-focused multidisciplinary team approach to diagnosis and treatment, offering patients a complete continuum of care and integrated research opportunities. The facility, designed by Frank Gehry, includes clinical resources, advanced brain imaging, physical therapy, research and the Keep Memory Alive Event Center. Supporting patients and families
Complementing excellent medical care, our focus on families affirms that neurocognitive disorders impact not just the patient, but everyone involved in care and support. Our Individual and Family Services program includes:
• Social services
• Counseling
• Education
• Support groups
• Library
• Events

The Team
We believe a coordinated team approach fosters the best outcomes. Therefore, we have assembled an expert group of Cleveland Clinic providers including neurologists, psychiatrists, neuropsychologists, movement disorders specialists, radiologists and physical therapists.

The Retired Athletes Brain Health Clinic is directed by Charles Bernick, MD, MPH, Associate Medical Director of the Lou Ruvo Center for Brain Health.

A neurologist with 25 years of experience with cognitive disorders, Dr. Bernick is the principal investigator of the Professional Fighters Brain Health Study.
