

Inpatient Pharmacy Internship Program

Our Purpose

The purpose of the Cleveland Clinic Main Campus inpatient pharmacy internship program is to provide the knowledge and practical experiences necessary to prepare student pharmacists for residency training or a career in health-system pharmacy after graduation.

Program Details

Our program is a year-round paid internship consisting of a 12-week summer component from May-August and an average of one out of every four weekends throughout the academic year. This longitudinal experience will span over three years, with summer blocks occurring after P1/P2 and P2/P3 coursework are completed. The 12-week summer experience includes required rotations in central pharmacy operations, sterile and non-sterile compounding, drug information, and the potential for clinical rotations including internal medicine, cardiology, emergency medicine and critical care with electives in other clinical areas based on preceptor availability. Additionally, each intern may be assigned projects and/or presentations at the discretion of his or her primary preceptor. The internship start and end dates will be customized based on departmental needs and each intern's final exam schedule.
